- ◆ But we'll have to go on our journey.
- ◆ Look here, I've got a strange letter. It's an invitation to one of the regions of England, but its name is unknown. Can you help me to guess what region it is with the help of these things and tell me everything you know about them. Yes, you are right, it's East Anglia. I really like your stories about this region of England. And as a prize you've got a chance to visit Stonehenge.
