

If I were the leader of my town I'd make a lot of transformations and change its original appearance. Firstly, I'd appoint the group of people, who would control the situations on the beaches, parks, squares and other social places, and fine those who drop litter everywhere.

