

Surely you have noticed that it is much more pleasant to have a dialogue with a well read person who expresses his thoughts well than with an illiterate person.